DONOR SPOTLIGHT

Google has become a key collaborator for the Child Mind Institute, working with our teams on several research and public education initiatives. In 2023, Google.org funded a project joining the Child Mind Institute, the Steve Fund, and the JED Foundation in partnership to develop a series of educator webinars addressing key topics in mental health. "We aim for this national initiative to equip educators with the skills to support their students' mental health needs in the classroom, while keeping themselves mentally healthy. As the partnering organizations work together to address diverse mental health needs and concerns, we hope to build a well-rounded resource hub that will be used in school communities around the country." — Adrian Shurr, Regional Giving Lead, Google.org

DONOR SPOTLIGHT

Barclays

Barclays has been a supporter of the Child Mind Institute since September 2020, funding our School and Community Programs team's efforts to reach students, parents and educators in a time of critical need. In a year that presented new challenges to schools everywhere, Barclays' donation allowed our teams to tailor services to the emerging needs of communities and provide student treatment groups, educator and caregiver workshops, and mental health skill-building trainings to under resourced school communities. Barclays strengthened its support even further in 2021 by providing a transformative donation, which allows the School and Community Programs team to equip educators with the tools to effectively respond to students' mental health needs. The skills imparted in these trainings will yield ongoing benefits, reaching children in their classrooms year after year.
